

Distribution RZR Rack

When we first launched the RZR Rack, we had manufacturing in mind. How could we help manufacturers store more parts in their facilities and move more parts at a given time to help them save money?

As we talked with more and more people, we found that there's just as much of a need for space & efficiency within the distribution market. That need is what led us to develop our new RZR Rack for distribution. By combining the best features of the RZR Rack with bags that mimic the Akrobins our customers are already using, our distribution partners can now use the RZR Rack to pick parts of all shapes and sizes without having to worry about additional boxes or containers. This design allows your pickers to get more parts on their trip before returning to the shipping area, which makes them more efficient, and saves you money!

Like our standard RZR Rack, this new distribution model offers the following benefits:

- Up to 40% floor space savings & reduction in rack requirements
- Up to 60% increase in part density
- Reduces labor rates by making your material handlers & pickers more efficient
- Warranty on materials and craftsmanship
 - Maintenance free
 - Made in the USA of high-strength, durable components
 - Fire-retardant materials available in various colors; ESD and Class A friendly
